The Annual Shining Star Christmas Project is Underway

Once again, area banks are opening their doors and assisting Texas Panhandle Centers in meeting the needs of clients this holiday season. The Annual Shining Star Christmas Tree Project will begin this month when paper ornaments listing the needs of clients will be placed at participating area bank locations. An ornament tree will also be located in the lobby of TPC’s Administration Building located at 901 Wallace Blvd. For more information or to volunteer for this project, please contact Janice Stoner at 806.351.3261.

“Sock It” Jeans Week

The week of November 27th - November 30th will be “sock it” jeans week. Wear jeans all week long for the price of a package of NEW socks to benefit the clients of TPC.

You pick the size and color and send them to Mary Salazar, Bldg 501 of the Wallace Campus. Thank you for participating!

In observance of Thanksgiving, Texas Panhandle Center Offices will be closed on Thursday, November 23rd and Friday, November 24th. Wishing everyone a happy Thanksgiving!

Canned Drive benefiting ECI Families

TPC’s ECI Program and Hillside Christian Church are partnering once again to assist families in need of Christmas gifts. Their motto is “giving a hand up instead of a hand out.”

A canned food drive is being held in which TPC employees could send in $5 or 5 canned goods in exchange for two jean passes to assist some of these families.

To participate, please send 5 canned goods or $5 (or more) to Laci Beezley, EIS/SC Program Director, ECI, at the Wallace Campus (Bldg 501). The drive ends December 7th, 2017 so please submit your donations before then.

Thank you in advance for supporting our ECI families!
The TPC Community Living program provides services and supports to individuals in their homes and other community locations that are necessary to achieve the outcomes that have been identified in the individuals’ Person Directed Plans (PDPs). Trisha Wilson is the Director of our Community Living program, with Renay Asberry serving as the supervisor of this program.

This program consists of a program developer, Paul Jeffers, a clerical staff, Clarissa Rashada, and the following staff who provide community support services: Sonya ‘Renee’ Perez, Martina Vacio, Presell Gilder, Debbie Hiatt-Rexroad, and Maria Cabrera. We have eight community support staff positions; however, we have two vacant positions. The Community Living staff are currently serving 133 clients; 33 Home and Community Based Services (HCS); 35 Texas Home Living (TxHML); and 71 General Revenue (GR) clients.

The program provides transportation to medical appointments, to shop, to and from day habilitation programs, and to access other community resources, such as banking, employment, and postal services. The community support staff also work with the clients in their homes to foster improvement of an individual’s ability to perform functional living skills and other activities of daily living skills, such as, cooking, cleaning, doing laundry, and bathing.

Several clients are given the opportunity to participate in the community by going on social outings with some of their peers. The outings can consist of going to the movies, eating out at their favorite restaurant, going skating, going to the park on windy days to fly a kite, to concerts in the community, as well as other activities. The individuals are given choices to select their outings and to choose what places in the community they would like to frequent.

The goal of the Community Living program is to give each person diagnosed with IDD that they serve, the opportunity to use the resources in the community that is available to all citizens and to ensure they have the skills needed to interact with members of our community.

Carbon monoxide, or “CO,” is an odorless, colorless gas that can kill you.
Submitted by: Desire Winslow, Quality Management Safety Director

Where is CO found?
CO is found in fumes produced any time you burn fuel in cars or trucks, small engines, stoves, lanterns, grills, fireplaces, gas ranges, or furnaces. CO can build up indoors and poison people and animals who breathe it.

What are the symptoms of CO poisoning?
The most common symptoms of CO poisoning are headache, dizziness, weakness, upset stomach, vomiting, chest pain, and confusion. CO symptoms are often described as “flu-like.” If you breathe in a lot of CO it can make you pass out or kill you. People who are sleeping or drunk can die from CO poisoning before they have symptoms.

Who is at risk from CO poisoning?
Everyone is at risk for CO poisoning. Infants, the elderly, people with chronic heart disease, anemia, or breathing problems are more likely to get sick from CO. Each year, more than 400 Americans die from unintentional CO poisoning not linked to fires, more than 20,000 visit the emergency room, and more than 4,000 are hospitalized.

How can I prevent CO poisoning in my home?
- Install a battery-operated or battery backup CO detector in your home and replace the battery when you change the time on your clocks each spring and fall. Place your detector where it will wake you up if it alarms, such as outside your bedroom. Consider buying a detector with a digital readout. This will detect where the highest level of CO concentration in your home is (and alarm you). Replace your CO detector every 5 years.
- Have your heating system, water heater, and any other gas, oil, or coal burning appliances serviced by a qualified technician every year.
- Do not use portable flameless chemical heaters indoors.
- If you smell an odor from your gas refrigerator have an expert service it. An odor from your gas refrigerator can mean it could be leaking CO.
- When you buy gas equipment, buy only equipment carrying the seal of a national testing agency, such as Underwriters’ Laboratories.
- Make sure your gas appliances are vented properly. Horizontal vent pipes for appliances, such as a water heater, should go up slightly as they go toward outdoors, as shown below. This prevents CO from leaking if the joints or pipes aren’t fitted tightly.
- Have your chimney checked or cleaned every year. Chimneys can be blocked by debris. This can cause CO to build up inside your home or cabin.
- Never patch a vent pipe with tape, gum, or something else. This kind of patch can make CO build up in your home, cabin, or camper.
- Never use a gas range or oven for heating. Using a gas range or oven for heating can cause a buildup of CO inside your home, cabin, or camper.
- Never burn charcoal indoors. Burning charcoal (red, gray, black, or white) gives off CO.
- Never use a portable gas camp stove indoors. Using a gas camp stove indoors can cause CO to build up inside your home, cabin, or camper.
- Never use a generator inside your home, basement, or garage or less than 20 feet from any window, door, or vent.
- When using a generator, use a battery-powered CO detector in your home.
Welcome back to Compliance Corner. Each month we will address a question that was received internally for the purpose of education. (All personal identifying information has been removed to protect the identity of the employee and client).

IF YOU SEE SOMETHING, SAY SOMETHING…..

Employees are the “eyes and ears” of the organization to detect any violation of our Compliance Program. You are required to immediately report anything that you encounter at TPC which you believe may be unethical, illegal, or fraudulent immediately to:

- Your supervisor or
- Donald Newsome, Director, Quality Management & Compliance, (Privacy Officer)
  Phone: (806) 351-3284
  Email: Donald.newsome@txpan.org

Here is the compliance question of the month:

Question: I forgot to take my ANSA certification test, print it out and sent it to HRD. Can I seriously not do an ANSA with my clients until I get this done?

Answer: You may not complete an ANSA with a client if your certification has expired and you must keep all training up to date to remain in compliance with the Texas Administrative Code (TAC). This rule applies to case managers and to those who supervise case managers.

Title 25. Chapter 412, Subchapter I, RULE §412.412 MH Case Management

The provider shall require each case manager and case manager supervisor, prior to providing MH case management services, to:

(1) demonstrate the competencies described in subsection (a) of this section; and

(2) ensure that documentation verifying competencies is maintained in the personnel record of each case manager and case manager supervisor.
```

If you have a question/scenario that you would like to be considered for inclusion in the newsletter, email the information to Compliance.Corner@txpan.org.
