JUNE IS MEN’S HEALTH MONTH

Let us celebrate the men in our lives by supporting their health including their mental health. If you or someone you know needs help, call one of the following:

The Crisis Hotline (806) 359-6699 (Amarillo Area) or 1-800-692-4039 (Toll Free) Non-Crisis (806) 337-1000 (Amarillo Area) or 1-800-299-3699 (Toll Free)
What is Autism Spectrum Disorder?

Autism spectrum disorder (ASD) is a condition related to brain development that impacts how a person may perceive and socialize with others. This could lead to challenges in social interaction and communication, and in some cases, there may also be behavioral concerns. ASD includes limited and repetitive patterns of behavior. The term “spectrum” in autism spectrum disorder refers to the wide range of symptoms and the severity of the disorder.

Autism spectrum disorder includes conditions, such as, autism, Asperger’s syndrome, childhood disintegrative disorder, and an unspecified form of pervasive developmental disorder. Asperger’s syndrome is often looked upon as a mild form of ASD.

ASD begins in early childhood with symptoms typically presenting within the first year. A small number of children may appear to develop normally in the first year, and then go through a period of regression between 18 and 24 months of age when they develop symptoms. While currently there is no cure for ASD, intensive and early treatment can make a significant difference in the lives of many children.

The TPC Autism program serves children and adults that are diagnosed with Autism spectrum disorder. Eligibility for the Autism program is determined through our Intake program with Alicia Huckabay. The program is with Cynthia Peters as the director, and three support staff, Angela Holcomb, Stephanie Jenkins, and Eddie Tijerina, serving individuals throughout our catchment area. Services currently provided are:

- behavioral supports;
- social skills training;
- social skills groups

Supports and outcomes are developed for each individual based on needs identified by a thorough assessment. The Autism program continues to grow and is currently serving more consumers than we have ever served in the past. For more information on Autism Spectrum Disorder, call 806.351.3212.
Welcome back to Compliance Corner where we address questions that are received internally to inform and educate. (All personal identifying information has been removed to protect the identity of the employee and/or client).

IF YOU SEE SOMETHING, SAY SOMETHING…..

Employees are the “eyes and ears” of the organization to detect any violation of our Compliance Program. You are required to immediately report anything that you encounter at Texas Panhandle Centers which you believe may be unethical, illegal, or fraudulent to:

Here is the compliance question of the month:

Question:

I sometimes see 6-8 people in a single day. Do I really have to have all my services documented same day/next day?

Answer:

Yes- The only exception to this rule relates to the provision of crisis services.

If you have a question/scenario that you would like to be considered for inclusion in the newsletter, email your question to Compliance.Corner@txpan.org.

Road Trip!

If vacation-time means a road trip, a few simple preparations can keep you safe and out of trouble.

Under the hood:
Check all fluids, including oil, coolant, brake fluid and windshield washer fluid. Check the air filter. Check the battery.

The tires and the spare:
The owner's manual, or your online car health guide, will tell you what the tire pressure should be. Make sure tires are properly inflated. That goes for the spare, too. Imagine the trouble this could save.

Inspect the tires to make sure there is enough tread. The old penny in the tread trick should work: Hold the penny so that Lincoln's head is upside down and facing you. If you can see his whole head, it's time to replace the tire.

Lights and signals:
Besides the obvious safety issues, proper lights and signals are just one more reason why you won't get a ticket -- or a nasty look from other drivers.

Safety gear:
At an absolute minimum, make sure you have the tools to change a tire.

But also consider carrying a spare, fully charged cell phone and battery-powered phone charger, drinking water, a gas can, and a flashlight.

It is not a bad idea to carry an emergency reflective triangle and a flare; especially useful if you will be going into back country.

Just in case:
Do you have a spare key accessible from outside the car? What about jumper cables?

Basics:
Take with you your license, proof of insurance and registration.

Travel safe and enjoy the trip.
Water Safety Tips from the Pool Safely "Simple Steps Save Lives" Program
Submitted by: Desire Winslow, Safety Director

1. Staying close, being alert and watching children in and around the pool
   - Never leave a child unattended in a pool or spa, always watch your child when near water
   - Teach children basic water safety tips
   - Keep children away from pool drains, pipes and other openings to avoid entrapments
   - Have a telephone close by when you or your family is using a pool or spa
   - If a child is missing, look for him or her in the pool or spa first
   - Share safety instructions with family, friends and neighbors

2. Learning and practicing water safety skills
   - Learn how to swim and teach your child how to swim
   - Learn to perform CPR on children and adults, and update those skills regularly
   - Understand the basics of life-saving so that you can assist in a pool emergency

3. Having appropriate equipment for your pool or spa
   - Install a four-foot or taller fence around the pool and spa and use self-closing and self-latching gates; ask your neighbors to do the same at their pools.
   - Install and use a lockable safety cover on your spa
   - If your house serves as a fourth side of a fence around a pool, install door alarms and always use them. Additionally, install window guards on windows facing pools or spas
   - Install pool and gate alarms to alert you when children go near the water
   - Ensure any pool and spa you use has compliant drain covers, and ask your pool service provider if you do not know

   - Maintain pool and spa covers in good working order
   - Consider using a surface wave or underwater alarm

If you suspect someone is drowning, follow these USSSA guidelines:
   - “Throw, Don't Go” — Never just jump in because a drowning person can accidentally pull their rescuers under with them. Tossing a lifesaving device, rope, towel, or even pool noodle helps the drowning person without increasing risk to others
   - Get backup — Call 911 or inform others that someone is drowning, so they can call 911, and let them know you're helping. Alert lifeguards; they're trained to assist.
   - Help from behind — When drowning people see a rescuer coming toward them, they clutch and pull them under the water. Approaching them from behind is safer for both the rescuer and the victim.
   - Use a life jacket — Wearing a Coast Guard-approved life jacket prevents a rescuer from being pulled under by a drowning person or an undercurrent. Life jackets are essential for rescues in water with currents, such as lakes, rivers, and oceans.
   - Look for signs of secondary drowning — If drowning is prevented, the victim might still have water in his lungs and can suffocate hours later. Look for labored breathing, lethargy, and coughing hours afterward, which can indicate secondary drowning. Secondary drowning is very uncommon, but it is still important for people to be aware that it can happen even after it seems an accident was avoided.

My name is Linley Laster. I am the Mentoring Project Coordinator at Family Support Services. This program is for the youth in the 79107 area and are from 5-10th grade. This program was developed to help assure young people that they are heard and that they know someone cares about them. Most young people feel that they are alone in their day to day challenges. Studies and research have shown that quality mentoring relationships have a powerful and positive effect on young people in various areas of their lives.

I am trying to inform the community about this program and I am also looking for people to become mentors. Please contact me at 806.342.2500

Thank you,

Linley Laster
